Allow yourself the chance to live consciously

Jennifer has had a hate- love relationship her entire life. Especially a lot of love for good food but unfortunately a lot of the time that has also been difficult due to multiple allergies.

It took quite a while before the switch from limitations to chances could be made.

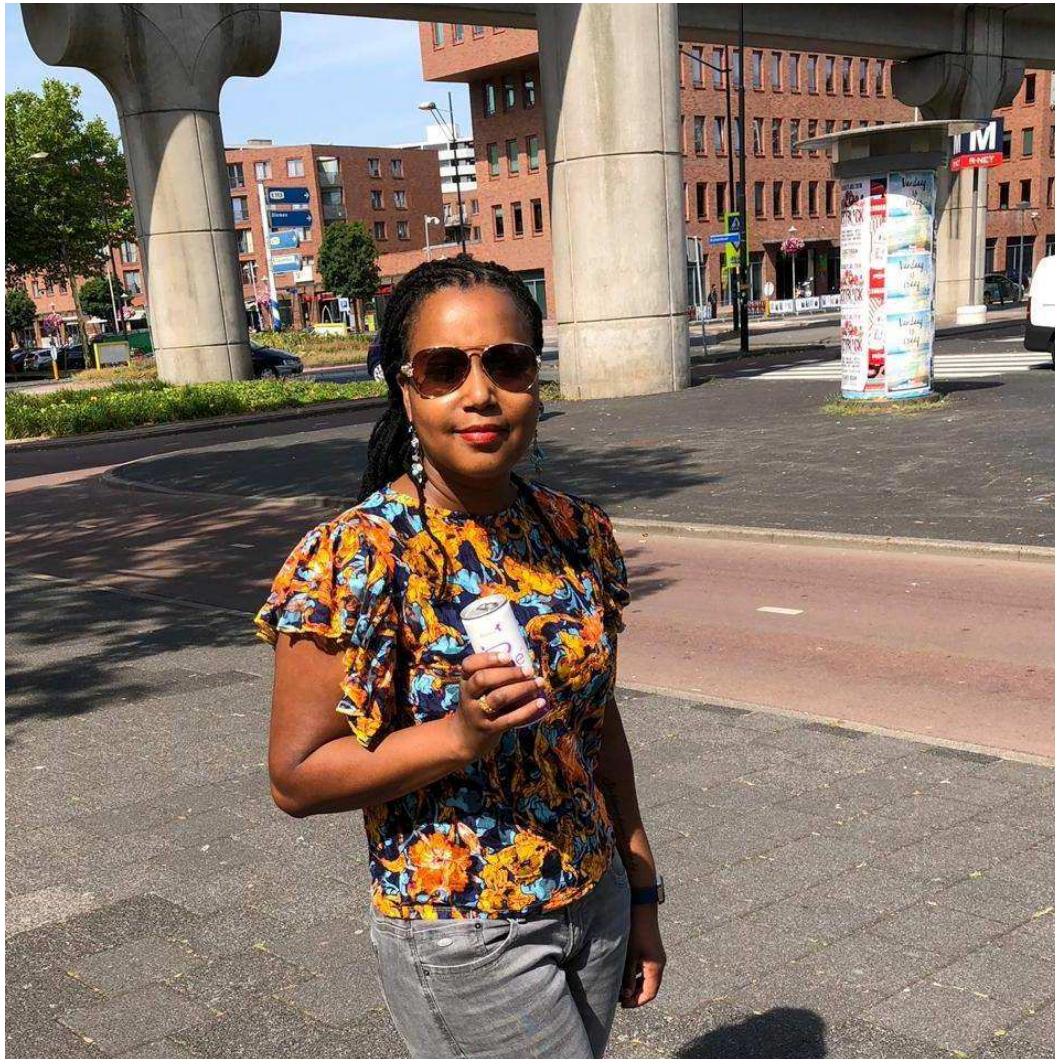

Being limited in your possibilities of eating whatever you want and like... Without this being detrimental to your health can be a challenge. It on the other hand also gives you the opportunity to occupy yourself with food in a way that feels good to you.

Jennifer also has the vision of transmuting ‘limitations’ to chances in business. Her organization WWOMM 'Wij Waarderen Onze Mooie Mensen' (in dutch ‘We Appreciate Our Beautiful People’), advises organizations in the process to an inclusive organization where everyone is able to contribute to their abilities and to excel.
